HARTMANN & FORBES

THE MAKING OF ONE SHADE

FROM HARVEST TO HOME, EACH HANDWOVEN SHADE IS MADE BY AMERICAN CRAFTSMEN IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST. THE LEVEL OF CUSTOM WORKMANSHIP AND HIGH-QUALITY MATERIALS, MAKES EACH SHADE A UNIQUE WORK OF ART.

Each Hartmann&Forbes' shade begins with the careful examination and selection of premium, natural, rapidly-renewable fibers. Each fiber is chosen using strict measures for color, texture and durability.

Fibers are steeped and cleaned, dyed and sun dried to remove moisture and bake-in color. This process often takes several days depending on the weather conditions. Fibers often need to be hand split and hand tied in order to be long enough to be used on the handloom as weft fibers.

The fibers are woven-to-size on the loom. As a result, each shade is customized to the window's dimension, becoming a one-of-a-kind, custom covering.

Such innovation allows H&F to offer the industry's widest, continuously woven widths (UP TO 15' WIDE) for seamless coverage of large modern window expanses.

THE HALLMARK OF THE COLLECTION IS THE LOOM-FINISHED EDGE.
